A two story BRICK HOUSE on Main-street, an excellent situation for business. That valuable and well known tract or parcel of LAND, situated at the mouth of Tate's creek, 15 miles from Lexington, on the main road leading to Madison county, containing 1000 acres; 200 of which is excellent bottom, the remainder hilly, but well timbered; 80 acres cleared, and five acres in thrashy meadow, and twenty more can be made and watered with very little expense. On the upper part of this tract is erected a MERCANTILE and GRIFF MILL—the situation is perfectly secure either from back water in the river, or floods in the creek. The house is fifty feet by forty with four floors. The merchant mill has a sixteen feet pitch back water wheel, double geared. Branch Burr stones; with bouting, hoisting, screening, fanning and packing work, by water. The Griff Mill has a 12 feet water wheel, over-shot and double geared. The whole new and in complete order. The water empties from these mills into a pond, whereon stands a saw mill in good repair, and a new hemp mill. There is also on the premises, a new Framed Dwelling House, Kitchen and Room house, with a number of useful cabins, and a large and never failing spring convenient; a ROPE-WALK covered 350 feet, and may be extended over a level piece of ground 150 fathoms with every apparatus suitable for manufacturing cordage; a young bearing peach orchard; also a number of bearing apple trees.

A DISMILLERY within forty yards of the mills, with over head waters. Three STILLS containing about 375 gallons, with every thing necessary for distilling.

A WAGON, with four good horses, a few head of cattle, and a large stock of hogs.

As the above property is situated in a thick settled fertile part of the country, where the greatest abundance of produce may be collected, and the land abounds with good timber for Boat building, and a very convenient spot for that purpose on the bank of the river Kentucky—it is evident that boats for the Mississippi trade, can be built and loaded at the mouth of Tate's creek with more convenience less expense and greater dispatch than at any other landing in the State.

The mills are now well supplied with seasoned flower barrels; and there is fire boats on the stocks, that may be finished in a short time. The purchaser can have choice of two or three if required. The payments will be made easy, and the greater part received annually in produce.

WHEREAS, Howen Lows made an entry of 1230 acres with the favor of Fayette, beginning one quarter of a mile south of the encampment made by the army marching against the Indian towns, in the year 1780, on the right of the thirteenth of July, about 10 miles from the forks of Licking and about five miles from the head of Banklick creek; and to run from the beginning N. W. 400 poles; thence N. E. from each end of this line for quantity. And also one other entry of 3500 acres on the dividing ridge, between Grady Creek and the middle fork of Banklick Creek, beginning at the top of the ridge, on the trace leading to dry creek from the forks of Licking; and a red oak with many chips in it marked L.F. ten to run S. The precept for the above preemption issued in the name of the aforesaid Bard; as assignee of Charles Stuart. The place of meeting for the above purposes, will be at the house of the aforesaid Hamilton. The other tract is situated on the waters of big Bottom creek, between Benson's upper and lower creeks, waters of Kentucky; about three miles above the mouth of said creek; the patent for which issued in Bard's own name. Lexington Feb. 23.

LONDON, November 10.
We have ample accounts of the operations in Germany, and of some of them in papers not friendly to the ruling powers, (particularly the Comité Français). It appears by them, that the French armies, both that of Pichegru and Jourdan, have been defeated, and obliged to retreat, but not to the extent reported. They say nothing of the Austrians having passed the Rhine. A part of Gen. Jourdan's army crossed in near Coblenz, while the rest took post at Duffeldorf, with an intention to maintain itself there.

Disturbances have broken out both in Holland and Hainault. The latter are so feignous as to be termed in the French papers another Vendée.

The reports of the passage of the Rhine by the Austrians, of their having taken Cologne, & defeated the French on the banks of the Rhine, are altogether unfounded. The Brussels letter which is dated the 31 of October, in the Paris paper of Friday last, says, that the Austrian troops were then four leagues from Duffeldorf, where 50,000 Republicans were ready to meet them. The French were fortifying themselves in that place by every means which art could supply, & reinforcements & provisions were sent them from the left bank, to make good the loss of those which had been lost by a precipitate retreat, occasioned by unforeseen circumstances.

General Jourdan, the same letter adds, had passed towards Bonn, to take the necessary measure to disconcert the plans of the Austrians, who manifested a disposition to pass the Rhine.

The French general Marceau, occupied a post, Neuwied, beyond the Rhine; but this it was thought he could not long preserve. Engagement was hourly expected, but the French generals, it is added, had taken every precaution to secure their retreat, if necessary.

A letter from Manheim, of the 28th of October, says, "Every thing is here on the former footing. We still retain our posts, but there is little hope of our renewing the communication between our army and that of the Sambre and the Meuse, which is retreating towards Cologne and Duffeldorf, in consequence of the Prussians not having defended their line of demarcation.—We are every day attacked by the Austrians, but as often repulse them with loss. In their last attack, they have lost, some accounts say 5000, but I believe, adds the writer, not less than 3000 men."

It was reported in Paris on the 2d, that general Hoche had fallen on the army of Charette, at the moment when he was about to form a junction with some troops disembarked from the English fleet; that Charette had been defeated and himself killed.

One of the Paris papers states, that the port of Lisbon is blocked up by some French ships of war. They add that a peace is near being concluded between France and Portugal.

Pache, Bouchotte, Audouin and other Jacobins, tried by the criminal tribunal of the Loiret, have been acquitted and released.

The death Merlin of Thionville is contradicted.

Forty-nine sail of vessels of the captured Mediterranean fleet, including the man of war, is the number which the courier Francois, an aristocratical paper, reports to have entered Cadix.

The French army is come back over the Rhine, not with such loss as has been stated here, and fresh troops have been sent to suppress the troubles in La Vendée.

An article from Mentz, dated October 20, says, that an estatee from general Clairfayt has informed our government, that the French were beaten on the eighteenth near Ems; that Ehrenbreitstein has been delivered from siege; that the French are crossing the Rhine; and that our troops are masters of the heights of Neuwied.

ARMIES OF THE RHINE.
The latest Paris papers dated the 7th of November, say, the greatest uncertainty prevails respecting the position of the army of the Rhine. The most contradictory reports are circulated. The government preserves a silence which the malicious convert into a proof of the truth of their absurd rumours. Such being the state of information in Paris, we cannot pretend to accuracy in our details, but they are the best which the French journals enable us to lay before the public, and they are sufficient for forming a general judgment of the condition of the Republicans on the Rhine, though the materials are so contradictory, that a partial person may find enough on which to found a representation favorable to either party.

Nov. 12.
Yesterday morning Mr. Major arrived at the Secretary of State's office, with dispatches from Mr. Wickham, our envoy at Bielefeld, arrived with dispatches from Colonel Crawford, and at the same time messengers arrived with dispatches to the Count Stralberg.

By these messengers our ministers received official accounts of the transactions on the Rhine about which we have had so much perturbation and exaggeration.

Our accounts state that great victory had been obtained by the Austrians over the French undoubtedly. It happened on the 29th ult near Mayence. The French lost 3,000 men killed and wounded, and 2,000 prisoners, with 100 pieces of cannon, and a great quantity of ammunition and stores. The loss of the Austrians was about 1500 men and between 60 and 70 officers. The first consequence of this victory was the fall of Oppenheim.

Whispered, attacked and carried by assault all the outposts of Manheim and when the account came away, they were in daily expectation of its fulfillment.

On receiving these accounts yesterday from Col. Crawford, the park and transport guns were fired, and directions were given for a gazette extraordinary.

By two of the Hamburg mails arrived yesterday, we have accounts of the operations on the Rhine to the 26th ult. I have, although fuller in detail, agree in substance with the accounts received through the medium of the Paris papers. The army of the Sambre and Meuse retreated without a battle, and the greater part of it repulsed the Rhine in several points from Neuwied downwards. On the 23th, Gen. Levasseur, with about 14,000 men, was posted near Duffeldorf. Baron Hoppner, the minister to the Emperor of Austria, who had been sent to the other side of the Rhine as a negotiator, for the payment of the contributions imposed upon Duffeldorf, was released and returned to that city.

BRUSSELS, October 27.
A letter from Duffeldorf gives the following news—our army of 18,000 men, is encamped some distance in advance of this city. The Austrians have abandoned the ground they had gained.

We are informed that general Pichegru has attacked the army of Wurmer, which was considerably weakened by the success given to Clairfayt, and that his army was entirely defeated.

PARIS, November 6.
The assembly of Holland have placed a restriction on the liberty of the press, by requiring that printed works should bear the names of the real authors.

A new assembly has been lately formed in that country, which is, that of the deputies of the national guards. It makes a common cause with the assembly of clubs, and has sworn never to permit the stadholder or any of his descendants to return to that country.

It was reported here on the 4th inst. that Count d'Artois had arrived and disembarked his troops near the Isle Dieu, but that the army of general Hoche had fallen upon Charette, who was preparing to join him, and cut his troops to pieces. The report added that Charette was killed.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.
Saturday arrived Captain Edward Davis, in the ship Outram, 56 days from Gravesend (England)—a few days previous to his falling from the Downs, there was a severe gale of wind, which did great damage to the shipping, & one west

Indianman was sunk, and every soul perished; ten sail of Colliers were drove over to Calais (France) and a number of ships of war and other large vessels, that lay in the Downs, were dismantled and otherwise materially damaged; that the Quiberon fleet, which had sailed for Portsmouth, it was feared, were also driven on the coast of France.

January 9.
Yesterday arrived here, brig Katy, Capt Pease, 59 days from Naniz. The captain did not bring any French papers. The reports at Naniz were, that Charette had been defeated, & had gone to join Stofflet.—That Spain had declared war against England.—that the Portuguese had armed a small fleet to engage the French Mediterranean Squadron lately arrived at Cadiz.—[other accounts say, that the Portuguese fleet failed, but unwilling to engage the French returned:] that a Squadron of British frigates were in Quiberon bay.—that the emigrants were still on the Isle d'Yeu.—and that the Count d'Artois had returned to England.

NEW-YORK, January 13.
Captain Royster, of the brig Mary Ann, in 53 days from Malaga; who touched at Gibraltar, informs, that six ships of the line and three frigates were fighting out there on purpose to fight a pitched battle, with an equal number of French ships; fighting out in Cadiz bay.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 11.
A correspondent in Burke county, has favored us with the following singular instance of an attempt to rob a house:—I three men, well mounted, came to a farmers about mid-day, procured some refreshments for themselves and horses, and were observed to pay uncommon attention to different parts of the house, and then departed with thanks for their kind reception. The farmer, suspicious of some design, invited a few of his neighbors to stay with him. About midnight the 3 men returned, and made violent attempts to break the doors & windows open, but in vain. They then, with an instrument, got the bolt of the lock off, but an iron bar having been previously laid across the door one of them thrust his arm through the logs to remove it. The people within, being unarmed, laid hold of his arm, drew his body to the logs, and made it fast with a cord. Still afraid to venture out, they let him remain till day, when they went out and found his throat cut from ear to ear, his associates having absconded; which was the only expedient the remaining two had to prevent a discovery. The person so murdered is supposed to be one Joel Moor, a notorious villain.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.
Extract of a letter from Norfolk, dated January 10, 1796

"Our good friends the British are purchasing up a large number of horses for their dismounted dragoons in the West Indies; some go from this in a few days.

January 30.
Extract of a letter from London, dated October 26.

"To day the famous corresponding society meets at Islington fields—our whole country groans under intolerable burthens; many murmur and complain, but there is no present appearance of redress; nor is there, I fear among all our patriots, one honest man of the first rate abilities, who dare risk any thing for the salvation of his country!

"Has there been begun to propose a fresh, he is in a mad house; a publication of his, which I have seen in manuscript, comes out tomorrow, to account for the suspension of his prediction judgments, and to threaten their execution.

"The number of people who have been deluded by this man is astonishing!"

MARTINSBURG, Jan. 21.
The complexion of our foreign accounts this day, exhibit a more pleasing spectacle than those of our last—it is evidently appears, that the distressing details there presented, were fabricated by ministerial hirelings, with a view to check for a moment, the riotous disposition of some of his Britannic Majesty's loyal subjects.

FREDERICK-TOWN, Jan. 27.
Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Louisville (Georgia) to his friend in this town dated January 2, 1796.

"About the first of last December the Indians killed a Mr. Wilson on the Oconee river, set fire to his house and burnt his wife with it. Mr. Wilson was a member of the legislature, a worthy citizen, and firm friend to the liberties of his country.

"On the 20th, 25 whites fell, victims to savage barbarity.

WASHINGTON, (Penn.), Jan. 26.
The following extract of a letter from London, dated 11th of November last, was transmitted us last post from Philadelphia by the gentleman to whom it was written:—

"I suppose by the time this reaches you, you will have heard of the attack that has been made upon our great and mighty Monarch as he was going to the house of Parliament, and what a noise it has made among us: therefore it will be useless for me to recite the particulars. Our prospects here are more gloomy than ever—no trade at all—bread as dear as liberty—every article of provision 50 per cent higher than ever—no likelihood of peace, and fresh taxes coming over us.—I can only say, I believe nothing but ruin will be the consequence.

"We have had news of the Austrians defeating the French, for which I am very sorry, for it seems to make our Cabinet more eager to carry on the war. The French, it is said, lost in killed, wounded and prisoners, 50,000 men, besides waggons, cannon &c. I believe Mr. Pitt is ready to jump out of his shoes about it, and I think it will be the worst news that ever reached us.—I shall write soon again, & I should not wonder if I was obliged to tell you in my next that all the shops were shut, and every kind of business stop'd up—so dreadful are our present aspects."

TAKEN-TOWN, January 26.
It has been moved in the assembly of New-York to adopt the amendments to the constitution proposed by the legislature of Virginia. In five years, the annual exports of the United States have risen from seventeen to fifty millions of dollars. The exports of Great Britain in 1795, did not exceed the latter amount.

A rich gold mine has been discovered in the county of Wicklow mountains, in Ireland. This discovery was made some time ago, and was treated ludicrously, and discredited, it is now verified several specimens have been produced, on the alloying of which it has been found as rich as any Peruvian Ore.

The Cape of Good Hope surrendered to Admiral Elphinstone, by capitulation, on the 10th of September last, the military marched out with the honours of war—such officers as chose, might depart freely, on giving their words not to bear arms against Great Britain—the property of the Dutch Company at the Cape to be delivered up—agents of the Company permitted to remain—the inhabitants to enjoy all their privileges.

A London ministerial paper of Nov. 14, says: "The Austrians were on the 31st ult. at Kreutznaeh and Oppenheim, on the left bank of the Rhine, and as our readers will perceive by the map, at no great distance from Landau." We will readily believe upon such respectable authority as the Times, that the Austrians after the most glorious victory before Mayence may have made such a splendid conquest as that of two small open towns, of Kreutznaeh and Oppenheim, which are eight miles from Mayence? but that we agree with the London editor, that the above towns are at no very great distance, only 57 or 62 miles from Landau, we cannot help thinking that the Austrians will find the way back to their ramparts infinitely shorter and less perilous than that through the defiles of the Vogles to Landau, where they would have the army of Sambre and Meuse in their rear, that of 20,000 mile flanking their right wing, Pichegru with the army of the Rhine in their front.

The editor of the Times has of late, and in a few days, gained more victories over the
